Why Colour Accounting?

No matter what industry you're in, ensuring your organisations leaders have a solid financial understanding is essential to success. Colour Accounting is a one-day hands-on workshop delivered by BDO in partnership with Competenz to equip your managers with the confidence to understand and make sound financial decisions.

What does a Colour Accounting workshop cover?

Using 3D tools, colour coding and simple language, the workshop takes the learning away from the numbers and makes it visual, interactive and collaborative. It is designed to help people at all levels in an organisation understand and interpret financial information so they can make more informed decisions.

Participants gain

- » A deeper understanding of financial language and documents
- » Practical working knowledge of important accounting principles that can be used everyday
- » Deeper understanding of underpinning financial concepts and how to apply these to their budget or business area
- » Confidence reading balance sheets and income statements, and an understanding about what they say about current business performance
- » Practical tools to analyse the financial position, performance and changes in your business
- » New insights into how your organisation generates profits, sets financial goals, and manages revenue and budgets
- » Confidence to communicate more powerfully with colleagues and management about financial objectives and performance.

“Colour Accounting is an excellent refresher for those who have experience reading and interpreting financial statements. Likewise it’s a great starter for people new to understanding finances.”

Greg Stuart
National Manager, ATNZ

“Fifteen EPL staff attended the one-day Colour Accounting course. The goal was to provide a basic understanding of accounting principles, terminology and practices as well as have some content that related specifically to EPL. All goals were achieved and the participants enjoyed themselves. I would have no hesitation in recommending this course to businesses that want to broaden the financial acumen of their staff.”

Mark Field
Chief Executive, EPL
